1. In May 1974, CASUSTAIN/15's friend, Identity 1, Subject of ☐ ☐, requested through her a resumption of his discussions with BHERALD which had been broken off in 1972. At a meeting in CASUSTAIN/15's residence on 4 June 1974, Identity 1 met again with ☐ ☐ and was introduced to ☐ ☐ who is handling CASUSTAIN/15. It was agreed that ☐ ☐ would make the next contact with him.

2. On 5 September 1974, ☐ ☐ called Identity 1 at home from a nearby coin telephone and suggested a meeting to which Identity 1 readily agreed. In sum Identity 1 asserted that his organization's major contacts were in Rumania and within CASCOPE. He also mentioned that after the change of government in 1969, contacts had been established at many levels with the HAPAIRY government. We told him that in order to establish his credentials as a reporter, we would like to begin with his knowledge of Communist organizations, particularly the Rote Kapelle, on which he claimed to have good files. This field was chosen primarily to reduce the flap potential of this contact, at least in the opening stages.

3. Before any further contact, ☐ ☐ traced Identity 1 routinely with Base and CASCOPE because of a telephone call to ☐ ☐ from Identity 1 had approached Delfs at a CDU rally on 2 October 1974 and informed her that he knew derogatory information concerning her personal life. He hinted that he had connections with CASCOPE. [redacted] provided Base with a copy of CASCOPE's trace reply, which stated that Identity 1 was known to them but was not an employee. CASCOPE stated that Identity 1 had been noted in 1954 in connection with the Otto John case and in 1961 in connection with the case of Siegfried Lietzmann, an LHGRAB agent.

4. [redacted] 's files showed that Identity 1 was living with

Identity 1 is not properly registered at the Residents' Registration Office (RMA), Hamburg. Identity 1 had offered his services to CAZAMIA in 1963, which were eventually turned down, according to [redacted] 's file. In 1971, Identity 1 telephoned CAMHISPER to complain about the damage to German interests caused by a TV program about the work of CAMHISPER.

5. Delfs appeared, prior to 11 November, for an interview with [redacted] [redacted]. She reported that Identity 1 knew that she had been fired from the Max Planck Institut in 1963 as a security risk and that she had then worked from 1964 to 1970 at the Swiss Consulate in Hamburg as a secretary. Identity 1 had told Delfs that her close friend, Identity 2, was a Soviet Bloc intelligence agent. Delfs had accompanied Identity 2 on his business trips for ten years, from 1960 to 1970, before breaking up with him when she learned that he is married. Identity 1 claimed that Identity 2 is now in Portugal.

6. In view of these developments, we have not resumed contact with Identity 1 for further assessment of his claims. The danger of serious embarrassment to BKHERALD always present in this case, has been heightened since [redacted] 's attention has again been directed to Identity 1, through his own actions. This incident, taken together with his indiscreet remarks in 1972 concerning his BKHERALD contact and his telephone call to CAMHISPER in 1971, demonstrate a desire for personal recognition to a degree which is incompatible with a secure operation. Although we have not dismissed the idea that Identity 1 may indeed have Bloc connections of some worth, we feel that his apparent instability and lack of discretion present risks which are not worth the potential return.

7. Request Headquarters and Station Headquarters traces on Delfs, Daniel and Identity 2. There are no Base traces.
